Monday, October 2. 1704

From the Bruffels Gazette, dated Sept. 26.

Madrid, Sept. 10.

Illuminations, Bonfires, and other Demonstrations of Joy, have been made here three Nights successively for the Advantage gain'd by the Fleet commanded by the Count of Tholouse over that of the English and Dutch. Four Mortars and 1300 Bombs are ship'd at Barcelona to be carried to Malaga, but we cannot learn whether they are to be sent to the Marquess de Villadarias's Camp, or to be put on board the Fleet under the Count of Tholouse. The King and Queen are in perfect Health, and appear abroad in their Coaches very frequently. The King has made Don Thomas Chacon Governour of Potosi in America. The Regiment of Spanish Guards of which the Count d'Aguilar is Collonel, and that of the Flemish Guards commanded by the Duke of Havre, having been paid their Arrears, are march'd towards Ciudad Rodrigo, and will suddenly be follow'd by other Troops that are quarter'd in the Neighbourhood of this City. They write from Salamanca, that the Duke of Berwick was to go from thence the 7th instant to the Camp which is forming near Malveco between Ciudad Rodrigo and Zamorra, in order to make Head against the Enemies, who are drawn together near Almeida.

From the Rotterdam Gazette, dated Sept. 11.

Schaffhausen, August 30. The Abbot of St. Gall having lately made a Treaty with the Emperor, in which he oblig'd himself to furnish his Imperial Majesty with 4000 Men, to be employ'd against whomsoever his said Majesty should think fit, without any Exception. The Cantons that are in Alliance with that Abbot, and especially the Protestants, were displeas'd at it, and in particular represented to him, that he ought at least to have excepted them, otherwise their Alliance with him was insignificant. In short they told him plainly, that if he would not renounce that Treaty, they would break off their Alliance with him, the Abbot thought good whereupon to renounce the said Treaty.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 30.

Basil, Sept. 21. The 15th of this Month the General Diet of the Cantons was open'd at Baden: All the Roman Catholick Cantons sent Deputies thither, and those of them who are interested in the Affair of Neukirch readily consented to refer that Affair to the Decision of the Cantons of Bern, Basil, Fribourg, and Soluthurn: But afterwards they started so many Difficulties, to perplex this Business, that 'tis not like to be quickly decided; nay we hear that yesterday the Diet broke up without coming to any Conclusion upon it, and that the Deputies of the Roman Catholick Cantons have agreed only to report to their Principals the Debates that pass'd in the Diet. 'Tis reported that in a little time another General Diet will be held at Baden about this Affair. The Marquess de Puisieux, Ambassador of France, having caus'd a Memorial to be presented by his Secretary to this last Diet, in which he complain'd of the Cantons suffering Men, Horses, Arms, and other things, to pass through their Country to the Duke of Savoy; it was resolv'd by the Cantons, that for the future Recruits shall be allow'd to pass thro' the Country to the Imperial Troops in Piemont, under the same Regulations as were observ'd in letting the French send Recruits, &c. to Swabia and Bavaria thro' Switzerland.

Geneva, Sept. 19. Eighteen Camisars are arriv'd here from the Sevens, having laid down their Arms and accepted the General Pardon which the King of France has caus'd to be publish'd there: They were conducted safe out of France, pursuant to the Tenour of the said Proclamation of Pardon, and report, that in all probability several more of the Camisars will follow their Example, unless speedy Means be found to convey Succours to them.

Cologne, Sept. 26. To day two Vessels arriv'd here from Mentz, and in them several French Officers that were taken Prisoners in the Battle of Hochstet: the rest of the French Prisoners that were embark'd at Mentz are hourly expected here, and from hence will be carried some to Holland and others to England. Some Boats are pass'd thro' this Place likewise, with English and Dutch Officers that were wounded in the said Battle. The Baron de Bernsau and Monsieur Agatius, set out from hence yesterday to go to the Camp before Landau, to compliment the King of the Romans in the Name of the Chapter of Cologne. To day the Elector Palatine with his Court came from Dusseldorp to Bemberg, to take the Diversion of Hunting there for some time. 'Tis reported the the King of the Romans will come to Dusseldorp when the Campaign is ended; where the Princess of Anspach is likewise expected about the same time, and there is a talk of marrying her to King Charles the Third of Spain.

Leiden, Sept. 30. Letters of the 24th instant from the Army commanded by Monsieur d'Auverquerque advise, that they should move from Hanef in a few days, and encamp between Liege and Maestricht; that it was probable part of the Cavalry would be order'd into Quarters, the Enemy having already cantoned theirs; that Monsieur Dopf and the Baron de Trogne would set out from the Camp at Hanef the 26th to go up into Germany; And that it was rumour'd Monsieur d'Auverquerque would send a Detachment from his Army to besiege Traerbach on the Moselle, in conjunction with other Troops from Bonn and elsewhere.

Portsmouth, Sept. 30. Last Night the Transports, under Convoy of Rear Admiral Whetstone, sail'd from Spithead to St. Hellens; and this Morning put to Sea, with a fair Wind, for Portugal.
